Full Stack Developer

Summary

I'm a 21-year-old full stack developer with diverse international experience, an interest in technology, and a passion for continuous learning. I've recently completed EPICODE's full stack developer boot camp which helped me develop a range of skills in web development, including TypeScript, React, Express, and Node.js. Currently, I'm looking for a job as a full stack developer in a dynamic and innovative company where I can keep enhancing my soft & hard skills, and make an impact.
